

Angelo Di Carlo

Angelo DiCarlo joined WHME-TV, Pulse FM Radio and Family Broadcasting Corporation in April 2023 as Assistant Sports Director, where he works in sports and sales. Working with Chuck Freeby, Di Carlo broadcasts high school sports on WHME-TV as well as hosting a high school football program and a Notre Dame football program on Pulse FM Radio.

Di Carlo spent the previous five years as Sports Director and Account Executive at Redeemer Radio (95.7 FM) in South Bend. There, he broadcast high school football and basketball games with Bob Berger, ran an internship program with high school students from Mishawaka Marian and South Bend Saint Joseph high schools, hosted a Notre Dame football show and a high school football show.

Di Carlo is no stranger to television. Prior to Redeemer Radio, he worked at WNDU-TV for 11 years as a sports anchor, including hosting the Notre Dame football pregame show with Freeby for eight years and leading the station's coverage of high school sports.

A 2001 graduate of Parkland High School in Allentown, Pa., Di Carlo competed in baseball, soccer and track growing up. He began to focus on broadcasting while in high school as a production assistant for Service Electric Cable TV. "I realized I was better at talking about sports than playing them," he said.

He matriculated to Syracuse University, earning a bachelor's degree in broadcast journalism in 2005. He landed his first professional on-air position as radio play-by-play voice of the Pennsylvania ValleyDawgs, a United States Basketball League team coached by Darryl Dawkins. He also worked during and after college as a sports reporter, sideline reporter and play-by-play announcer for Service Electric Cable's high school sports coverage.

Di Carlo moved to South Bend in 2007 to become weekend sports anchor at WNDU-TV, initially studying under Jeff Jeffers. Di Carlo stayed at WNDU for 11 years, eventually becoming the station's primary sports anchor and sports director covering high school sports and Notre Dame. He moved to Redeemer Radio in 2018 and then to WHME-TV/Pulse FM in 2023.

Di Carlo has been recognized for his work several times during his career. Those include being a part of an Edward R. Murrow Award in 2009 for reporting on the firing of Charlie Weis at Notre Dame, a local Emmy nomination in 2011 for an anniversary story on the death of Notre Dame football videographer Declan Sullivan and the 2014 Forrest "Woody" Miller Excellence in High School Media Award from South Bend Schools.

Di Carlo and his wife, Molly, have a daughter – Lily, 3.
